Procapui-Produtores, etc. v. G.F. Higgins, Inc., et al.; 07 CV 6627 (BSJ)

Dear Judge Jones:

We are the attorneys for plaintiff herein and respond to the letter of the Higgins defendants dated June 9, 2008.

Firstly, plaintiff has no objection to completing the review and exchange of documents. That process was interrupted by your order dismissing the Complaint and Magistrate Judge Peck's resultant order sealing the documents already produced pending the filing of the Amended Complaint.

Given the amount of documents already either produced by the parties or obtained from third-parties, I do not necessarily disagree with counsel for defendants that depositions could be deferred until all of those documents have been reviewed. Plaintiff has not unsealed the documents ordered by Magistrate Judge Peck to have been sealed, pending communication with the Court on that issue, despite the fact that the Amended Complaint was filed.

There are literally thousands of pages of documents which must be reviewed and it would be more productive to complete that review and obtain and review the remaining documents prior to the resumption of depositions.

Therefore, plaintiff requests that the court order the resumption of document production and review to be completed within 30 days at which time we will communicate with the Court further on the issue of depositions.

Respectfully,

Luigi E. De Maio
